Tri-Weekly May Replace Current News

Present Editor Sponsors Idea; Student Body to Decide Issue

Marching towards its goal of a daily paper for State, the Gater today announced that it would initiate a tri-weekly Golden Gater in the very near future.

Fathered by Editor Bill Buchan and presented by Jean Cop lestone to the Board of Publications and Executive Board, the plan for the additional issue per week has crystallized within the last week and now is waiting only for printing arrangements.

Spartan Size

Of approximately the size of San Jose State's Spartan Daily, the new paper will come out each Monday, Wednesday and Friday. More news and fresher news will be presented to the students; a larger staff of journalists will make for more opportunity for the ambitious and shorter hours of work for the staff as a whole.

Director of Publications Clarice Dechent says: "As well as being a big step toward a daily newspaper at State, I feel, as does the rest of the Board of Publications, that the increased interest on the part of the journalism students and staff members will make for an outstanding paper.

Fresh News

"The more frequent dates of publication will assure a greater news value in the stories and a greater variety of material.

"The smaller size of the paper may be a shock to students at first, but they should all bear in mind the possibility of enlargement through increased advertising possibilities."

Bill Buchan, editor-in-chief, warns students: "Don't be afraid of the smaller size of the new Gater; the bi-weekly was a small paper when it was started.

"We are more than anxious to get the reaction of the general student body on the matter."

When present plans are complete the papers will be run off on a high speed press and will be ready for students by 9:30 on the mornings of publication.

Students Decide

Whether or not the innovation will become a permanent policy of the Golden Gater will depend entirely on whether the students give it their approbation.

Seniors Announce Near Sell-Out Of Bids for Dinner

With nearly a complete sellout of bids announced, the low seniors will honor the high senior class at a gala dinner dance tonight at 8 o'clock in Hotel Lake Merritt in Oakland.

Complete mystery surrounds the nature of favors and programs for the affair, yet they will be in keeping with the senior theme, announced Barbara Smith, vice-president of the low senior class and chairman of the affair.

The bids have been on sale to the students for the last two weeks, with a limit of 59 reservations made which were available to the guest class, the high seniors, before being put on sale to the entire student body.

Jess Stafford's orchestra will provide music for the dance, which will be set in the picturesque surroundings of the Lake Merritt Hotel. John Goodwin, president of the high senior class, will be guest of honor, according to Miss Smith, chairman of the affair.

Other committee members are Genevieve Murphy, Dolores Waters, Hal Roseman and George Teale.

According to those in charge, the affair was planned for the East Bay in order that students attending may have an opportunity to cross the Bay Bridge.

CHRISTMAS STYLE SHOW

Next Thursday at 12 o'clock Bib 'n' Tucker will present their annual fashion show in the Little Theater, Annex B2.

This year the style show will carry out a Christmas motif with decorations in the holiday manner. The style show, known this year as the "Christmas Holiday Fashion Parade," will exhibit the proper clothes a college girl, home for the holiday season, would wear. These will consist of a variety of costumes to be worn from morning through evening, including sports suits, coats, snow outfits, street dresses, lounging pajamas, bathrobes, dinner dresses and formals.

The following committees have been appointed by Jean Bingley, president of Bib 'n' Tucker. They are Barbara Learned, tickets; Merle Conant, chairs; Jane Dean, greenery; Bee Zisser, decorations; Jean Bingley and Dorothy Lavelle, advertising.

Girls selected to model are Leslie Jones, Dorothy Basch, Victoria Regier, Eleanor Radcliffe, Peggy Clifford, Betty De Voe, Dixie Drake, Alice Coakley, Betty Brown, Louise Maring, Barbara Learned, Jean Schermerhorn, Virginia Stolte, Jane Dean, Catherine Faulkner, Dorothy Lavelle and Jean Bingley.

Tickets are on sale in College Hall for ten cents.

VARSITY DANCE CLIMAX TO PRESIDENT'S DAY

As a climax to President's Day, the A. W. S. and the A. M. S. will unite in sponsoring the Varsity Ball. This event will be held in the Women's Gym. It probably will be the climax to pre-Christmas social events on the campus.

Dorothy Jean White, president of the A. W. S., is in charge of arrangements for the affair. As yet no orchestra has been selected by the committee, although negotiations are being conducted with several of the leading orchestras. An admission fee will be charged.

Points to Plans

Dr. Alexander C. Roberts maps campaign for building a bigger San Francisco State.

Luncheon Plans Are Told

A. W. S. and the Advisory Council will furnish the personnel for serving the President's Day luncheon, according to plans revealed last Thursday at a meeting of the committee. The former, headed by Dorothy Jean White, will have as their special duty decorations, while the Advisory Council, with Frances Bolander as its head, will take care of the actual table service.

Bill Ferem, freshman president, heads the committee which has as its responsibility the arrangement of tables and the later placing of chairs when the testimonial is given President Roberts.

A cold lunch with hot coffee is the fare which will be offered the luncheers. In explaining why this form of meal was favored, it was shown by committee members that it was the most easily served and would be likely to create a more favorable attitude for all attending.

Music of a light nature will be furnished by musicians from the Federation at the luncheon and testimonial. The orchestra for the latter event will be augmented greatly and some of State's best will be represented.

At the time the Golden Gater went to press about 600 people had signed up for the luncheon. It was announced that people wishing to pay for the luncheon may do so at any time in the student body office.

Low Juniors Contribute $75

At Monday evening's Executive Board meeting it was definitely learned that the faculty and all representatives to the legislature from San Francisco were backing State's campaign for a new campus 100 per cent.

Further plans for President's Day were discussed, and Student Body President Ed Cockrum urged all those present to unite in making this vitally important event a distinct success. Dorothy Jean White, chairman of the A. W. S.-A. M. S. dance, discussed plans which will climax the day's activities.

An excellent 30 cent luncheon will be served in the gymnasium at noon, and Clarice Dechent.

Former Prexy At A. S. Union

Edwin Alexander, former student body president of the City College of New York, was the guest speaker at the State chapter, American Student Union, last Wednesday noon.

Alexander traced the histories of the more prominent student movements which originated in the United States.

A movement to organize college students in northern California is now under way, according to the speaker.

The organization will meet next Wednesday in Room 118 during the noon hour.

Thespians Plan Farce

College Theater's second production, "The Whole Town's Talking," will be staged some time in January, probably the Friday before final examinations. The play, which is a farce in three acts, is designed to appeal to all classes of people.

The cast, which calls for five boys and nine girls, has not been named yet, although many students are trying out for various character parts. Only two members of College Theater group are applying for parts, the rest being from "various walks of life about the campus," said Miss Jessie Casebolt, director.

Miss Casebolt stated that the play will be given this time in Frederic Burk Auditorium, as "Post Road," given in the Community Playhouse, made only a small profit due to the overhead. Aside from providing good entertainment, "The Whole Town's Talking" will be staged to raise money for payment of College Theater group's trip to Humboldt College some weeks ago.

It is hoped by College Theater to get a student body appropriation next semester. The money would be used to equip the "Annex Theater" for better seating and heating facilities, and also provide for better stage equipment.

Committee Heads Report Progress on President's Day Plan; Program Told

Demeke Lauds Student Body Response—Low Juniors Donate $75 to Fund

Committee reports from the members of the contact group confirm the previous report that a large number of the city and state celebrities will be present to help the college honor its president on December 9.

Contacts have been made at various times during the past week by members of the committees, and results have justified hopes expressed earlier that a good representation will be had on the date set.

Bud Decker, in charge of the transportation committee, reported that he had lined up about ten cars for the day and that more would be forthcoming if needed. Frances Bolander, head of the ticket committee, said the sales had been very satisfactory thus far and undoubtedly there would be a heavy representation at the lunch. Prices, due to difficulties with caterers, had to be upped to 30 cents. Part of this cost is being shared by the low junior class which donated $75 to the celebration.

Howard Demeke, chairman of the day, late Thursday expressed appreciation for the excellent spirit Staters had shown in connection with plans for the day. "Everybody asked to do something to help has responded in a manner that was highly praiseworthy. With this attitude on the part of the majority success will certainly be ours."

The program, as stated before, will follow the schedule given below:

Guests will be turned over to the hostesses, composed of members of Bib 'n' Tucker, after receiving their initial greeting from Bev Lyon, stationed in the main hall of College Hall. They will be conducted to various points of interest about the campus, from whence they will be escorted to the women's gym, arriving about 1 o'clock. Here the luncheon will take place.

Bud Decker and Fred Ross and George Bogdanoff will handle the field program.

Following the lunch will be a short program on the upper field featuring Rue Stone and Darryl Hopkins in an athletic demonstration, a stunt feature by the yell leaders, a P. E. demonstration, and a ball game between members of the college faculty and a team made up of visiting men. The testimonial in honor of Doctor Roberts will follow immediately in the gym.

Block "S" men will be posted at all exits as long as the program lasts and all classes will be dismissed.

Music Students Offer Program

75 Voice Children's Choir In Annual Xmas Service

Third in an annual series of Yuletide programs, the evening of Christmas music, sponsored by the Music Federation and featuring the cream of State's musical talent, will be heard at Temple Methodist Church Sunday, December 6.

Vocal and instrumental soloists, along with a seventy-five voice children's choir from the Frederic Burk Training School will have prominent places in the program. Conny James, State student, will sing with this choir.

As a background for the vocalists, the A Capella Choir, the Madrigal singers and the Carolers will blend their 300 voices in a "Story in Song." They will be accompanied by a string ensemble under the direction of Mr. William Zech, instructor in music.

One of the highlights of the program will be a violin solo by Jack Murphy, to be followed by Paul Barrett, singing with the Bayer Christmas Cantata group.

The program, under the direction of Miss Eileen McCall and Mr. Roy Freeburg of the college faculty, will be a tribute to Mrs. Mary Weaver McCauley, who is leaving the music department after 22 years of service. Mrs. McCauley is well known in San Francisco musical circles and has played an important part in the development of the music department at State. She is noted for her training of such outstanding groups as the A Capella Choir and the Carolers.

Art Club Aids State Magazine

The Westscribe, new State College magazine edited by the Scribes Club, will be on sale in College Hall Monday. This student magazine represents a courageous effort on the part of the Scribes Club this year, as it is being financed entirely by members, while previously the student body was responsible if the magazine was a financial loss.

Westscribe is a new venture in that it sells at a cheaper price than other school publications of this nature. If all copies are sold at the price of ten cents, the sponsors will break even. However, with such a reasonable price it is hoped that more students will be able to afford it, and the main object is to promote a "State-wide" interest in creative writing.

Through the Brush and Palette Club, Elinor Radcliffe, Bill Smith, Dorothy Lavelle, Betty Brown, Jane Dean and Barbara Young have contributed block cutouts which will serve to illustrate various articles and stories.

State College students whose contributions have been accepted are Dick Marsh, Roy Laugeson, Fred McGowan, Peggy Cleghorn, Harold Jacobs, Elinor Stanton, Jane Crawford, Nicholas Vogulkin, Patricio Megino and Curtis Zahn.

Late Bulletin

Griff Williams will be the featured star, at the rally today at noon in the gym.

Cockrum Heads Sac. Delegation

With the largest and one of the most enthusiastic crowds ever to attend any State rally, the massed students of the college gave a rousing send-off to the representatives of the student body who will present the needs of the State students for new buildings to the governor and the state legislature.

Urging the assembled students to support the campaign were Ed Cockrum Howard Demeke and Bud Decker. Their speeches were greeted with shouts of approval as they drove home the pressing needs of the college.

FROM THIS SIDE

By BILL BUCHAN

The first big offensive in the drive for new buildings is about to begin. Tomorrow, three representatives from this college will meet with Governor Frank Merriam and Arlen Stockburger, director of finance, in a conference on the conditions here at the college.

THEY ARE NOT GOING TO ASK FOR $700,000. THEY ARE GOING TO ASK FOR ENOUGH MONEY TO REBUILD THIS COLLEGE. THEY ARE GOING TO ASK FOR A NEW COL LEGE HALL. This fact should stop some of the dissent that has been rife on the campus. They are going to ask for a new college!

This is only the opening gun of the offensive. The supporting barrage must be laid down by every student of this college. Every student must support President's Day. Every student must raise his voice in a protest to the high heavens over the way they have been treated.

President's Day is no personal holiday. It will be a major step in the building campaign. It will be for your benefit more than anything else. It is to secure new buildings, a new campus, to make a college that one can really call a college.

That is why it needs your support! That is why you should be present on the campus that day and should make it a point to take an active part in the program.

On that day such people as civic leaders, state senators, state assemblymen and prominent Californians will be on the campus. It is the ideal time to show these people that this is our fight and we are going to see it through to the very end.

THE OPPONENTS.

In this battle we are going to run up against two opponents. They will be the collective group that favors the state university and the individual groups that have axes to grind of their own, the other state colleges.

The fact that Santa Barbara expects some $2,500,000 should make the students of this college fighting mad. In fact, it should be the spark that will carry every student to Sacramento when the time comes to present this all-important bill to the legislature.

We're not asking for any gifts. We're asking for what is justly due to the students of San Francisco State College. We are asking for safe, decent buildings instead of shacks and traps that will take tremendous toll in lives.

Why should we be silent? We've waited ten long years for promises to be fulfilled! We've waited and watched! Watched what? Watched the other state colleges get the new and modern buildings. Buildings in which they could safely trust their lives, while we sit and wonder just how many are going to be fortunate enough to get out of here in the eventuality of a fire.

It is your fight! It must be your fight! Because if you haven't got that intestinal fortitude to get out and holler about College Hall, the annexes and the dirt piles, then you don't deserve anything better than these structures and eyesores.

A NEW DEPARTURE

Some time within the near future the Golden Gater will take another step forward. We are planning to publish three editions of the Golden Gater a week. Of course there will be one drawback. The paper will be four columns in size. But as the semi-weekly grew, so will grow this new paper. That will be our pledge.

It will mean that we are taking one stride more towards a daily. It will mean that the Golden Gater will be advancing. Yet it is you who will make the final decision. If you prefer the six-column semi-weekly it will be returned. Your comment is our guide. Please give it to us.

LIDLIFTER

How can we as a member of the student body achieve the much needed school spirit if we return to class after our student body meeting only to find that a certain history professor at 11 o'clock has lectured since the beginning of the hour with only one student in the class? It seems to me that the faculty could be interested enough in what our student body is trying to do, and not be NASTY if we happen to be 20 minutes late to class merely because we gave the student body meeting a little support.

This certain teacher has exhibited some such inhuman traits before.

MUSICAL NOTES

By CAHN

Here we are back on this page again when folks were beginning to think there was good riddance of a guy whose writing never seemed to do much good for anyone. We received notes from our two readers which were very illuminating. One student said that he always reads the column because he likes to see his name in it; the other says that during our absence she reads it, hoping it won't be in. There's nothing like receiving fan mail.

The third annual Christmas Music Festival given jointly by the Music Department and Music Federation will be held this Sunday at the Methodist Church in the William Taylor Hotel. A departure from other performances, the customary oratorio will not be given. Instead there will be selected numbers by a well-drilled string group as well as appropriate vocal selections by our singing organizations. Invitations may be secured in the music building. There is no charge.

More than a decade ago Gene Austin was given $70,000 for warbling the lyrics to "My Blue Heaven" for a recording company. The record sold like Big Game tickets. But the last decade has seen the disappearance of the phonograph, and fortunes for the warblers who were on the crest of a popularity wave. This time it's an electric device. But the phonograph is back again. Folks who have their musical plates whetted by hearing the finest symphony groups over the radio want to hear their favorite selections when they want them. Take it from one who owns one, it's lots of fun.

Music and lyrics by Cole Porter written under any manuscript usually assures your scribe that he'll be whistling the tune for weeks to come. This talented songsmith has thrown over the customary barriers in writing popular music; his harmony is more complex and his melodies don't do the obvious. His latest opus are featured in the current "Born to Dance" and include "I've Got You Under My Skin" and "Easy to Love." In case you've forgotten, Porter wrote that very successful "Night and Day." He's a Yale grad.

Vendors Win Intramural Hoop Playoff

By ERNIE MIGUEL

By sinking a free shot during the extra session of the championship playoff of the intramural basketball tournament, Ken Johnson scored the point which broke a 25-25 deadlock and won the championship for the Peanut Venders, winners of the Division I championship.

Their opponents, the Don Juans, Division II winners, came out from the short end of a 7-11 score at the half to keep just one point behind for the greater part of the second half and in the last two minutes to tie the score with a free shot.

The Don Juans, defending the laurels of Division II, were composed of several football players and varsity basketball prospects. The ex-football players on the green-shirted were Billy Hammond and Bill Abbey. The rest of the team was composed of the basketball prospects, Cecil Huse, Dick Otot and Hank Sommers. The high point men were Huse and Hammond, who is setting a new style for basketball players this season. He is getting in a "Christmassy" effect by wearing a bright green jersey and still "hotter" red panties. Bill Abbey was admired by the female spectators for his stunning appearance in gray panties with a blue stripe and a green jersey offset by a yellow numeral.

The newest champions, the Peanut Venders, were composed of "Barney" DeBisschop, Ken Johnson, George Bogdanoff, Ryan and Purcell.

"THE PERFECT PLAY"

Anonymous

This little ditty was found on the bulletin board in the College Hall subterranean passage. Whence it came nobody knows, where it goes nobody cares.

S. F. State had a perfect play.
They used to practice it every day.
To fullback Harkness the ball was passed
Right half Schiller blocked the off end,
One back was stopped by half Hammond,
Then quarter Abbey and tackle Halliway
Blocked the secondary out of the way,
While Fisher and Harkness gaily tore
Down the field to an easy score.

S. F. State had a perfect play.
They tried it on Santa Barbara one day.
To fullback Harkness the ball was passed,
A Gaucho end crashed through Schiller's block
A burly center with cruel zest
Burled Harkness over and sat on his chest,
Then a big green guard took the ball away
And that was the end of a perfect play.

W. A. A. Lists Coming Events

Final plans for W. A. A. week, January 4 to 8, were announced Tuesday by Virginia Kyriazi, president. A badminton exhibition is scheduled for Wednesday noon, January 6, with off-campus players participating. Students from State will be selected to play opposite them. Tuesday afternoon, January 5, a health clinic or exhibit will be visited. Mixed recreation is having a big event Wednesday night, January 6, with games and a social, and probably an orchestra for dancing. Everyone is invited to see a real volleyball game Thursday, January 7, at 11:20 in the gym. The week will end with a mixed roller skating party Friday night.

Virginia Kyriazi, W. A. A. president, is in charge of the program for W. A. A. week. Her committee includes Marge Leary, Mary Snell, Eldris Burrows, Babette Lau, Louise Vallerino, Helen Bartmann and Kay True. They urge everyone to come and have a good time, the last week before examinations.

Miss Kyriazi feels that students will have an opportunity during W. A. A. week to become acquainted with the Women's Athletic Association here at State.

BABIES CRY FOR IT!
The 1937 Franciscan.

Side Shots ... by Oxtot ...

With the final curtain about to be rung down over football throughout the country, basketball holds the spotlight once more. State's comparatively green 1937 hoopsters are now drilling hard for the long season ahead of them, intent upon presenting a classy five before the season starts in earnest. Their work is cut out for them, with only three veterans back, and anyone who has seen Coach Farmer driving his charges up and down the court, screaming "BREAK!" from four to six every afternoon will agree that their life is no bed of roses.

BLOCK "S" FIGHTS AGAIN

Several extraordinary occurences featured the Block "S" night last week. In the first round of the final bout of the evening, Bill Plutte and Willie Ryan landed solid pokes on each other's kisser, each returning to his corner minus a front tooth.

Some of the audience was a bit confused by the technical knockout scored by "Notch" DeBisschop over George Elzarian. De Bisschop caught Elzarian off balance in the second round and floored the latter with a glancing blow. Elzarian, not hurt, arose quickly; then, deciding to act upon the advice of his seconds and take full advantage of the count, he sat down again. Jimmy Mace, classy U. S. F. featherweight, who refereed the bout, immediately raised DeBisschop's hand, thus bringing the fast battle to a sudden finish. There was nothing else for Mace to do, as the rules prohibit a fighter deliberately going down without being hit.

JAYVEES BOOM AGAINST LOWELL

George Mirande's junior varsity has been performing with a zest. The victory over Lowell in the closing minutes of play shows that George has the boys battling up to the final gun.

Mirande, incidentally, has the boys talking about his methods of swishing the casaba. He made several shots of a rather unorthodox variety playing for the alumni against the varsity. One of these individualistic shots was made while Coach George was in the midst of a process of falling prone. He got rid of the ball as he fell, and it "swished."

Coach Shows New Team To College

On Friday night, December 4, Dan Farmer's 1936-37 basketball machine will swing into action in the women's gym, when they tangle with Heald's. Coach Farmer has been hard hit by the loss of nine last season regulars. Returning to battle for State on the basketball court are Cy Atkinson, Bill Plutte and Ed Barbano. Cy Atkinson has played some splendid ball for State in the past and practice sessions prove that he has lost none of his old ability to cover the court effectively. Atkinson will hold down center for the Gater squad.

Bill Plutte, fresh from the gridiron wars, will trade his moleskins for the scantier attire of the hardwood court and will play guard for the Gater five. Ed Barbano, forward, has been showing plenty of speed and ball-handling ability in the practice sessions. Kenny Wilkes and Billy Hammond are a couple of small but speedy forwards of the type that can weave through a defense composed of larger men. Wilkes is a graduate of the 145 pounders and Billy Hammond has played on many independent teams outside of school.

Ken Johnson, rangy Swede, will no doubt see action in a guard position. Johnson has an uncanny ability to foresee just where the ball is going before it gets there. "Notch" DeBisschop, erstwhile star distance man on Coach Cox's cinder squad, will alternate at the guard spot with either Johnson or Plutte.

TEST CHANGE

P. E. 172 (Tests and Measurements in Physical Education) may be changed from 10 a. m. Wednesday and Friday to 1 p. m. Tuesday and Thursday.

Students who would be affected by such a change are urged to see David Cox, head of the physical education department.

Although Coach Farmer has lost almost his entire group of veterans, he is optimistic about the forthcoming basketball season. "We haven't got the beef but we've got a fast team," stated Coach Farmer. "With our fast breaks and our speedy forwards, I think we can be a lot more optimistic about the season coming up than was at first supposed. Several freshmen products look very well in practice and I have high hopes that they will develop into a nucleus for another great Gater team." Coach Farmer also stated that he would play every man on the squad Friday night.

The Heald's Business College five remains an unknown quantity but the Van Ness Avenue bunch have a habit of giving the local lads a tough tussle. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

THE GOLDEN GATER

IT'S A FACT

We're sick of running these Franciscan ads, too. Yet it seems that this is the only way we can impress upon you the fact that it is your subscription that will insure the production of one of the finest annuals in the history of the college. We're not trying to be friendly and give the Franciscan a pat on the back. We've seen the actual plans for the book. For the small sum you will get a volume well worth more. (We think so, anyway.) So to save us the agony of writing more of these ads, and to be smart, too, why don't you subscribe to the Franciscan. It will only take four bits, one-half of a dollar, fifty cents to reserve a copy.

1937 FRANCISCAN SPONSORS OFFICIAL STATE CALENDAR WITH AIR SCENE OF CAMPUS

Publication Under Way, Delivery Date to Be Rushed in Time for Holidays; Three Colors

An official State calendar, sponsored by the 1937 Franciscan, is now in the process of publication. This will sell at 10 cents per copy and will be a source of revenue to help publish the book. Copies will be on sale prior to or after the Christmas holidays, depending upon delivery. The calendar, in three colors, will also have a picture of the entire State campus. Reservation of copies may be made in Box 835, as only 500 copies are being printed.

Inaugurating a new policy, the 1937 Franciscan has asked all students to hand in snapshots of themselves or others connected with the college. These will be published in the snap sections of the book, which, in the past, have been limited to those pictures taken by the staff photographer. Photos should be left in Box 835 or in the editor's box in room 114, the Publications Office.

Approximately 425 of the 1500 students enrolled in the college have subscribed to the yearbook, according to Bob Barry, editor-in-chief. If the same number of subscriptions are obtained next semester there will be no difficulty in financing publication, he said. However, Barry stressed the idea that immediate subscriptions would enhance plans for a bigger and better book, since last-minute funds would not aid in changing the make-up.

With the resignation of Charles Rich, business manager, this position has been thrown open to the student body. Petitions for the the job may be obtained in the Publications Office and submitted to the Board of Publications. The only qualification for the position is willingness to work. THIS COLLEGIATE WORLD

College women's clothing costs more than college men's clothing, according to a survey of 42 men and 56 women on the Texas Wesleyan College campus.

A complete outfit for a woman averages $78.90, while a complete outfit for a man averages $60.40. The only single item for which males pay more than females is hats.

"Lady," a black and white foxhound of St. Louis, Missouri, knows how modern society prepares for "blessed events."

On the verge of having pups, she walked into the Washington University clinic and wagged her tail for recognition. A few days later "Lady," attended by nurses and internes, gave birth to six puppies.

Students, Civil Leaders Sponsor Calif. Youth Act Before Congress

With leading college students and prominent civic leaders as sponsors, call for a Northern California Assembly of Youth to draw up and pass a California Youth Act appeared today.

Leonard Charvet, student body president at the University of California; Jim Reynolds, student body president at Stanford; Mrs. Joseph Morcombe, president of the Parent-Teacher Association; Edward L. Parsons, Episcopal bishop of California, and Franck Havenner, congressman-elect, are among the 70 sponsors of the Assembly.

The call states in part: "We call the youth organizations to convene in an Assembly of Youth for the purpose of drawing up a California Youth Act to provide jobs and education for the young men and women of our state. Such a bill is necessary because the existing agency for relief, the National Youth Administration, helps only one out of ever four needy. A California Youth Act could meet the problem until the federal government accepts its rightful responsibility by passing such legislation as the American Youth Act, now before Congress."

Edwin Alexander, national organizer of the American Student Union and publicity chairman for the Youth Act Promotional Committee, declared in a speech to the State A. S. U. chapter today: "There is no more worthy supplement to your fight for new buildings than this campaign to draw up and pass legislation to give students the money necessary to enjoy the new buildings. I think every club, and particularly the Student Body Council, should discuss the draft of California Youth Act drawn up by the Y. W. C. A., make their own recommendations for the California Youth Act and then participate in drawing it up by electing delegates to the Assembly of Youth January 9 and 10 in the Y. M. C. A."

The Promotional Committee has offices at Room 119, 268 Market street. It begins a series of 26 broadcasts over Station KRE on Thursday, December 10, at 8:30.

This luncheon is for outstanding high school journalists as well as for members of the Golden Gater staff.

Immediately after the refreshments the John Henry Nash scholarship test will be given to the graduating high school journalists.

The examination will cover practically every phase of newspaper work, according to Bob Barry and Bill Smith, co-chairmen of the affair.

Those participating for the scholarship must have attained at least a C average in high school. They must also have been outstanding in high school journalism.

The winner in the competition will enter State next semester with all expenses paid for a period of one year.

Those in charge of the committee for the luncheon are as follows: Ina Gill, entertainment; Bill Buchan, invitations; Max Williamson, decorations; Louise Vallarino, refreshments; Jean Coplestone, hostess; while Al Cartwright and Bob Chamberlin will act as co-treasurers.

During the past the following outstanding high school journalists won the scholarships: Floyd Walters, Dorothy Fox and Ina Gill.

Lidlifter

Dear Lid-Lifter:

In fairness to all those participating in examinations it seems to me that the time element should be considered. I believe that the faculty should and ought to regulate the time element so that no student may enjoy the privilege of remaining after the usual termination of the class period endeavoring to supplement responses to the questions. Another point concerning examinations is an administrative function. If it is a beneficial policy to space final examinations, it seems that such method would also be more just and beneficial to those who now must take two, three and even four mid-term examinations in consecutive classes

Respectfully,
JAMES SERIGHT.

Hate, Incorporated! Topic Of Hilda M. Holmes In World Today Lectures

Race Prejudice and Implications Discussed by Psychology Instructor Monday Night at Frederic Burk

"Hate, Incorporated: Race Prejudice and Its Implications," to be delivered by Miss Hilda M. Holmes, associate professor of psychology here, will be the next in the "World Today" lecture series being presented every Monday night at the Frederic Burk Auditorium by the members of State's faculty.

The most distinguished representatives of cosmopolitan San Francisco's community of peoples will deliver the greater portion of the remainder of the series. British, Italian, Scandinavian, German, Oriental, Spanish, Polish, Greek, Balkan, Mexican, Russian, French, Canadian and native speakers will explain the contributions of their respective peoples to the unique culture that is now America's.

San Francisco has two-thirds of her population of foreign origin. The multiplicity of culture patterns that have come in contact with each other, clashed and amalgamated are the objects of study in the lectures. The sponsors of the series invite everyone to hear the speakers, believing that understanding among peoples is the prerequisite for internal and international peace.

I. R. C. DELEGATES AT INSTITUTE

Climaxing an active term, the International Relations Club took part in a Students' Institute of Pacific Relations round table discussion at Prescott's Inn over the Thanksgiving holidays. Representing State were Jeanette Dissmeyer, Phylis Ferrari and Catalino Fermin.

The conference was called to promote better understanding among the peoples of the Pacific area and to encourage the exchange of ideas under ideal conditions. An attempt is made to have equal representation of American and foreign students at the conferences.

Every phase of the Institute work is carried on by students and is under their control. The conferences are directed by an executive committee elected by the sponsoring council, composed of representatives from sponsoring organizations such as the International Relations Club.
